IA is currently in the process of completing multiple Admirals Club lounges, as part of the most expansive lounge makeover initiative in American Airlines' history. Ultimately, the goal of each club is to provide a consistent, modern space where members and guests can enjoy a meal, work, or just relax.

Branded glass entryway welcome guests into the lounge, where they are immediately greeted by representatives at a check-in podium. For both comfort and productivity, communal tables and high-backed chairs are equipped with power outlets and USB ports. A variety of seating, children play areas, and snack areas are also provided.

The overall design features a palette of tan and gray tones and accents of red, along with lighting and other elements that blend in white oak wood and stainless steel. Location-specific elements are incorporated into each project, creating on-brand and unique designs.
